About Trailing Interest

You may see interest on your next statement even if you pay the new balance in full and on time and make no new charges. This is called "trailing interest." Trailing interest is the interest charged when, for example, you didn't pay your previous balance in full. When that happens we charge interest from the first day of the billing period until we receive your payment in full. You can avoid paying interest on purchases by paying your balance in full and on time each month. Please see the "When we charge interest" sub-section in your Cardmember Agreement for details.

Subject: Notice of Change in Executive Director

Dear Rose Corona:

Hugh Wood is currently serving as the Executive Director for the Santa Ana Watershed Association. The purpose of the letter is to inform you that Hugh Wood is retiring and has tendered his resignation. The Board of Directors has appointed Brian Brady as his replacement. This change will be effective July 23, 2018.

Should you need additional information, please feel free to contact me at 951-780-1012 ext. 101 or by cell at 951-750-4809.

Respectfully,

The Next County Fire Chief Is...? Riverside County and nearly 20 local cities enjoy a very strong and valuable contractual relationship with CAL FIRE to protect our county. This cooperative (state/county/city) relationship dates back to the 1940s and has proven to be very cost effective for taxpayers and residents. Like most all other government services, the cost of CAL FIRE services is increasing at a time when the county (and many cities) are facing significant budget challenges going forward. I think I can safely say the entire Board values and intends to maintain the contractual relationship with CAL FIRE. However, like all (public safety) departments, cost control has moved to the forefront and will likely result in some uncomfortable discussions between the County and the State (related to state fees and administrative/support service costs). With the permanent CAL FIRE/County Fire Chief position currently vacant, two Board members and a local city manager (representing contract cities) will be serving on the final interview panel to select our next County Fire Chief. Hopefully, we will have our new Fire Chief in place by August 1st.

Wrapping Up KPMG? Many of you are familiar with the controversy surrounding the previous hiring of a large consulting firm to evaluate a number of county departments and their efficiencies. Although I have been critical of the firm and its overall results, I have had to admit that an external review of government practices is not a bad idea, as long as you get your money's worth. In this case, the consulting firm theoretically works for the Board of Supervisors (not the department heads). The $40+ million contract has been managed through the guidance of the Executive Office. As time has passed, it was apparently determined that a couple of the specific services the firm was providing could wrap up early. It therefore seemed reasonable to me that any unused funding (estimated somewhere between $2 million and $12 million) for those specific evaluations could now be saved. Well Not So Fast, Mister! Several weeks before our new FY 18/19 Budget was to be formally approved, I specifically asked about the unused funds. The answer I received was vague at best. During the subsequent budget hearing, I raised the issue of moving the unused funds out of the Executive Office budget and into reserves, and I hit the proverbial brick wall. The only agreement that could be reached (amongst the Board) was to leave the alleged possible unconfirmed, undescribed surplus funds with the Executive Office for the new budget year, and that the matter would be revisited later in July. A local city council member who watched the meeting commented to me that I had clearly found someone's hidden "Honey Pot" and I was trying (unsuccessfully) to take it away. I really hope the "Honey Pot" analogy is mistaken. Stay tuned!

Beefing Up Patrols!? At a time when Sheriff patrols are stretched to the limits (and then some), I'm pleased to report that our First District initiative to start beefing up Sheriff patrols in the non-city communities won Board support during the budget hearings. It is not yet clear exactly how the County Sheriff will utilize the extra $2 million for enhanced patrols. The County (and contract cities) are suffering from attrition challenges and the extensive time it takes to recruit, train, and deploy a new deputy. I have advocated using the funds to pay overtime to those deputies who are willing to work it, as well as moving available deputies (all ranks) out of administrative jobs and back into the field. Those of you who work in law enforcement know it's not really that easy, but our unincorporated communities need urgent, creative, and short-term solutions while we look for new ways to permanently fill the all the vacant positions.

Next month... I will introduce you to our recently announced new Homeless Guru that will be coordinating and guiding the County and all its cooperative entities in finding solutions to our growing homeless crisis. A very tough job indeed.

As always, please feel free to share your comments and suggestions. I actually enjoy reading them (well.. the polite ones).

Respectfully,
Kevin Jeffries

Safety Improvements on Ortega Highway

Since the days Supervisor Jeffries used to respond as a volunteer firefighter to crashes along the Ortega Highway, one of his top priorities has been the safety of motorists driving to and from Orange County on the Ortega Highway. As crashes have recently seemed to increase, the Supervisor and staff have held multiple meetings with Senator Jeff Stone, Assemblywoman Melissa Melendez, Caltrans and the Riverside County Transportation Department to push for both short term and long-term solutions. Due to the geography of the highway and fiscal constraints, it will never be possible to fully widen the highway to accommodate the high traffic volumes it sees, but steps can be taken to enhance safety as funding becomes available. In May, Caltrans District 8 installed two electronic speed signs near the Candy Store and are continuing to evaluate options for safety improvements near dangerous curves.

Caltrans has also now committed to:

- Changeable message sign near Grand Ave. and SR-74 to notify commuters of road closures or hazardous conditions before they get on the mountain
- 5-mile widening project from the Orange County-line east (scheduled to start construction in 2020), similar to what was done on the Orange County side of the highway
- 8-mile widening continuing east to Grand Avenue (funding not yet identified)

Supervisor Jeffries will continue to advocate for state resources towards this high-priority regional connector.

HOW DO YOU SPELL RELIEF?

On days with excessive heat warnings, try to handle outdoor activities before the heat of the day sets in. Drink plenty of water and avoid strenuous outdoor activities.

My Way & Taylor Rd, Now Paved!

Big thanks go out to our Riverside County Transportation Department for bringing in My Way Street & Taylor Rd (off Hwy 74) into our county maintained system and finishing the paving of the roads as well.

Community residents took to Facebook and called our office to express their sincerest thank you for finally getting this much needed fix completed.

As always, Supervisor Jeffries and District staff are always looking to find much needed funding to pave the many dirt roads which are utilized by many of our residents on a daily basis.

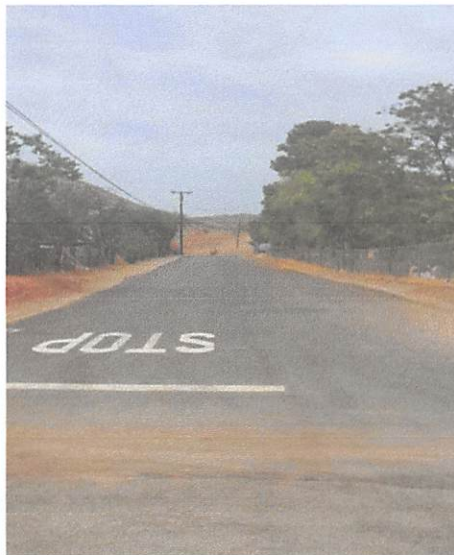

If you would like to suggest a road please feel free to contact our County Transportation department so they can begin the evaluation process.

Patterson Street Now Paved Too!

Not to be excluded, our Riverside County Transportation Dept. was also able to bring the north side of Patterson Street (north of Mountain Ave, off Hwy 74) into the county maintained system and pave it as well.

Residents on this small section of roadway were especially happy to have this project completed. Rains from last year had made this drive difficult with wash outs and narrow access to their homes.

RIVERSIDE NATIONAL CEMETERY SUPPORT COMMITTEE

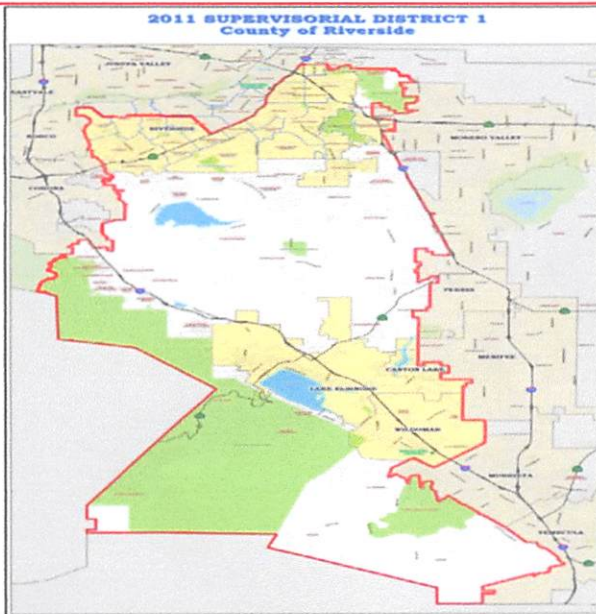

RNCSC

The Riverside National Cemetery Support Committee (RNCSC) is a 501(C)(3) non-profit organization whose mission is to provide upkeep and support to the Riverside National Cemetery while providing activities for veterans, their families, friends, and the community. Comprised of 25 board members and hundreds of sustaining members, the members of the RNCSC strive to be an asset to the Riverside National Cemetery and those who gave all.

The RNCSC gathers funding through donations from the generosity of the community and members that are willing to step-up to assist the RNCSC financially so they can continue their work in honoring veterans and military personnel. The RNCSC hosts numerous events such as the Concert for Heroes event, Honor Our Heroes, and The Memorial and Veterans Day Ceremonies. Also, providing services for the families of veterans such as the Remembrance of Love Project, and providing the Indigent Unclaimed Veterans Ceremony.

The RNCSC supports the Riverside National Cemetery by taking on projects for the beautification of the Cemetery, providing maintenance and other necessary needs for the staff of the Cemetery. These duties include assisting with erecting and maintaining memorial statues that honor the past and present veterans such as the nationally recognized Prisoner of War Memorial Statue. All RNCSC activities are approved by the director of the Riverside National Cemetery.

For more information, visit their website at: <http://rncsc.org/> or contact Chairman Paul Adkins 909-957-3982.

NACD RELEASES REPORT, PUBLISHES MAP OF URBAN GRANT RECIPIENTS

In 2016, NACD partnered with NRCS to pilot conservation technical assistance for the vastly growing industry of urban agriculture. The two primary goals were to increase technical support for conservation aspects of urban agriculture and help address the needs of underserved populations.

NACD and NRCS awarded $2 million in funding to 42 conservation districts across 25 states. While the grant was for one year, proposals were required to show proof of project sustainability to ensure services would continue. Working through 2017, these funds enabled districts to provide a variety of services including community garden development and soils testing in specific neighborhoods, workshops and training, and/or awareness activities.

NACD published a comprehensive 93-page document describing each project, districts' efforts to keep the programs operating and lessons learned. Visit the 2016 Urban Agriculture Grant Recipients webpage to view the report, as well as an interactive map of the projects.

University of Rochester in upstate New York, where he earned his bachelor of arts in political science. Pugh worked in Congressman Tom McClintock's district office in California before moving to Washington, D.C., to help influence policy at the federal level in his office on Capitol Hill. Rep. McClintock serves as chairman of the Federal Lands Subcommittee of the Natural Resources Committee, and Pugh assisted with the Congressman's natural resources portfolio. Pugh is based out of NACD's Washington, D.C., headquarters and can be reached at adam-pugh@nacdnetwork.org.

NACD is looking for fall interns food production and to encourage residents to apply water and soil conservation principles.

The new Spokane Urban Agriculture Network (SUAN) allows community members to communicate with each other on their projects and activities, resource needs and advocacy work to support urban food production.

Groups involved include Project Hope/River City Youth Ops, The Edible Tree Project, Spokane Urban Goat Keepers, Catholic Charities Food for All Farm, Polly Judd Park Food Forest Project, Spokane Community Gardens and Bruce Rule Design.

The district formed the Spokane Community Gardens Association to help gardeners find resources, build successful communities, provide classes on gardening and community development, and advocate for broader community support. Over 65 existing community gardens have been engaged with help from the Washington State University (WSU) Spokane County Extension, the Spokane Associated Garden Club, and the Upper Columbia Resource Conservation and Development Council.

NACD is seeking internship applicants for the fall term to assist government affairs and communications staff with advancing the association's legislative agenda. Interns are introduced to the development of natural resources, agricultural and environmental policies. Click here for a full details; applications are due June 29.

Hoosier Ag Today: Senate Ag Moves Farm Bill Forward
06/13/18

The Senate Agriculture Committee Wednesday passed its version of the farm bill, sending the legislation on to the full Senate for consideration.

AP News: Agency considers dropping wolf protections
By John Flesher
06/14/18

The federal government is considering another attempt to drop legal protections for gray wolves across the lower 48 states, reopening a lengthy battle over the predator species.

Fox News: Colorado wildfires spread to ski resort towns, force more evacuations
By Paulina Dedaj and Amy Lieu
06/13/18

The fires began June 1 in the San Juan National Forest and have continued to grow amid dry and hot weather. A severe drought also has hit the Four Corners area where Arizona, New Mexico, Utah and Colorado meet.

Des Moines Register: Iowans need strong conservation presence in next Farm Bill

By Vicki Arnold and Joe Wilinson

06/07/18

(Opinion) Some claim the farm bill must prioritize farming; that conservation comes, well, later. Actually, they go hand in hand. When they do, everyone benefits: farmers, the outdoors community and all Iowans. A conservation-focused farm bill is an investment in Iowa that brings returns many times over.

U.S. News and World Report: Farmer-Led Wisconsin Group Works to Improve Water Quality

06/11/18

Cover crops are a key strategy for Pfeuti and the Farmers of the Sugar River. The loosely affiliated network of local farmers is one of 19 producer-led watershed groups getting funding through a state Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection program.

Wallaces Farmer: Improve soil biology to ease no-till planting

By Jason Johnson

06/11/18

According to Delaware County farmer and soil conservationist Wayne Brunsman, the key to easing tough no-till planting conditions is improving soil biology.

Inc.: How to Stop the Crab Species Killing the New England Seafood Industry? Deep Fry and Serve Them

By Emily Canal

Green crabs are harming the New England community in a number of ways, preying on such species as soft shell clams--an important export for New England's aquaculture--and destroying coastal shoreline habitats by burrowing and uprooting underwater grass. While the crabs are not new to New England waters, their population is growing due to warmer water temperatures.

The Hill: Congress must work with, not against, tribal communities in crafting Farm Bill

By Hon. Aaron Payment

06/11/18

(Opinion) Native American tribes have a large stake in the farm bill; yet, our relative invisibility can make it easy for policymakers to overlook our critical needs and the prominent role we play in agricultural and livestock production.

The Blade: Farmers growing solutions to help solve Lake Erie water problems

06/13/18

Michigan Cleaner Lake Erie Through Action and Research (MI CLEAR) is a partnership working to improve Lake Erie and the water quality of the Western Lake Erie Basin. Their goal is to improve the long-term water quality through open discussion among regional leaders, support research that builds an understanding of science around water quality issues, and boost actions that bring meaningful change.

Delmarva Now: How the bee decline affects Delmarva agriculture

By Sara Swann

06/08/18

One of Delmarva's major industries may be at risk due to the declining bee population in the United States. More than half of the species within the native bee population — bees that pollinate but are not primarily honey producers — are declining.

CONSERVATION IN THE CARIBBEAN

During the week of June 24, NACD leadership and staff will travel to Puerto Rico and the United States Virgin Islands (USVI) to meet with local officials and observe the recovery efforts following Hurricane Maria.

Through the coordination and collaboration of Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) Caribbean Area Director Edwin Almodovar, NACD will have the opportunity to build relationships and support NACD members and districts in Puerto Rico and the USVI.

NACD President Brent Van Dyke, Southeast Region Executive Board Member Jim Harreld, Director of Projects and Partnerships Rich Duesterhaus, Director of Communications Stephanie Addison, and Southeast Region Representative Phylis Vandevere will represent the organization next week during meetings, field visits and roundtable discussions. These individuals will also meet with government officials, conservation district leaders and staff, receive updates on the technical assistance grants in the territories, provide support and advice on conservation district restructuring initiatives, and discuss the viability of scheduling NACD related events in the future.

Be sure to stay tuned to NACD's social media channels and follow the hashtag #ConservationInTheCaribbean to receive live updates from the Caribbean as well as blog posts from each of the NACD representatives' perspectives.

UPDATE

On June 13, the Senate Committee on Agriculture, Nutrition and Forestry marked up The Agriculture Improvement Act of 2018. The Senate expects to move on the bill before the Fourth of July recess. NACD submitted a letter to committee leadership expressing support that the bill maintains overall Conservation Title funding and does not merge EQIP and CSP like the House version. NACD has also expressed reservations that this bill evolves RCPP far past its original intent at the expense of current conservation delivery.

Last week, NACD provided comment to a variety of outlets regarding the Senate farm bill's strengths and opportunities for improvements.

Important ANNOUNCEMENTS

Missouri districts seek ag engineer

Boone County SWCD and Cole County SWCD are currently seeking candidates for an agricultural, civil or environmental field engineer based in Jefferson City. The applicant should have skills in applying engineering principles related to soil and water conservation, stream and wetland restoration, water resources and nutrient

"One of the best benefits that has come out of this partnership is the response from residents," GCD senior conservation coordinator Jeffrey Johnson said. "They are excited. The city didn't have the budget to maintain and care for the trees the way we are now. I think the fact that they can see results is one of the biggest upsides."

A memorandum of understanding (MOU) with GCD sparked the movement to form a partnership for tree maintenance across the city. Read more in the latest edition of Forestry Notes.

NEWLY-PUBLISHED BOOK HIGHLIGHTS WOMEN'S ROLE IN MONTANA CONSERVATION

In her debut memoir, "Montana Women From the Ground Up: Passionate Voices in Agriculture and Land Conservation," author Kristin Ellis creates portraits of pioneering women who share their experiences of successes, growth and failures in farming and ranching Montana's vast landscape.

With their forward thinking, nurturing abilities and "gumption" to "make hay out of thistles," these women persevered and thrived in Montana agriculture, while creating a better landscape for the next generation. You can purchase the book from these Montana conservation districts or through Amazon (make sure you've connected your

2016 URBAN GRANT RECIPIENT WINS AWARD

In 2016, the Allegheny County Conservation District \(ACCD\) received funding from NACD and the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) as part of the urban agriculture conservation grant initiative. ACCD's project focused on urban soil health and contamination, especially in the thousands of vacant and abandoned lots in Pittsburgh and Allegheny County. The ACCD Urban Soils Program works with local communities to identify and address the significant environmental concerns around urban soils, including lead, arsenic and heavy metal contamination. On May 24, ACCD received a Western Pennsylvania Environmental Award for their project's innovation and effectiveness.

To date, ACCD has offered over $150,000 in free testing services, and hundreds of hours in free technical assistance toward community and greenspace projects. ACCD has also raised awareness of soil health and

CALL FOR URBAN AND COMMUNITY CONSERVATION WEBINAR PRESENTATIONS

Since 2012, the NACD Urban and Community Resource Policy Group (RPG) has partnered with The Scotts Miracle-Gro Company in offering monthly urban and community conservation webinars. These webinars cover a variety of topics with districts and businesses sharing their projects, programs and resources and are held 12:00 p.m. – 1:00 p.m. ET on the third Thursday of each month. View a full list of past webinars, as well as links to presentation PDFs and archived webinar recordings on NACD's website.

The RPG is now seeking your input for the series beginning in October 2018. Help us design webinars that help you! Please take a moment to:

1. Offer to give a presentation, and/or
2. Tell us the urban and community conservation topics/issues and/or speakers you would like to have covered.

Send a brief paragraph describing the programs, projects or speakers you would like to see showcased to Deb Bogar by June 30.

Upcoming webinar: Outdoor water use and green infrastructure

The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency's WaterSense® program and the Alliance for Water Efficiency are hosting a free webinar on Outdoor Water Use and Green Infrastructure June 26 at 2:00 p.m. Eastern. The webinar will review approaches to stormwater management by using low impact development and green infrastructure, and how water efficient practices such as native plants and water-smart landscapes can play an important role in green infrastructure implementation.

As spring concludes and summer finally arrives, you're likely seeing more critters around your garden hard at work. Today marks the beginning of National Pollinator Week, an annual event to raise awareness of the animals and invertebrates that make our ecosystems function. In addition to graphics on NACD's social media channels this week, here are five ways you can make a difference for pollinators today.

Agri-Pulse: House GOP pushes through farm bill on second try

By Philip Brasher

06/21/18

The farm bill, which is unchanged from the version that failed May 18, passed Thursday afternoon, 213-211.

Fox News: Senate stops Trump push to cancel $15B in spending

By Samuel Chamberlain

06/20/18

The Senate narrowly voted Wednesday to block a White House plan to cancel almost $15 billion in government spending. Burr's opposition was unexpected and came after he was not guaranteed a vote on his amendment to protect funding for land and water conservation.

Agri-Pulse: Trump administration plan would shift USDA programs

By Spencer Chase

06/21/18

A plan announced today by the Trump administration would shift Department of Agriculture programs to different government agencies, dramatically shrinking the size and scope of the department. The plan would move nutrition programs to the Department of Health and Human Services, shift some USDA housing programs to the Department of Housing and Urban Development, and consolidate the government's food safety oversight into a new Federal Food Safety Agency.

The Hill: Trump admin floats changes to environmental review standards

By Timothy Cama

06/19/18

The Trump administration is considering major changes to the regulations that govern how federal agencies analyze the potential environmental impacts of their decisions.

The Washington Post: The Chesapeake Bay hasn't been this healthy in 33 years, scientists say

By Darryl Fears

06/15/18

For the first time in the 33 years that scientists have assessed the health of the Chesapeake Bay, the nation's largest estuary showed improvement in every region, a likely sign that a massive federal cleanup plan is working.

By Art Barnaby

06/21/18

Secretary of Agriculture Sonny Perdue, Kansas Republican Sens. Pat Roberts and Jerry Moran, as well as Rep. Roger Marshall, R-KS, attended a recent meeting with farmers at a farm near Manhattan, Kansas. In response to a question, Roberts stated that no farmer would lose base acres.

Delaware Online: Small but mighty: Floating wetlands ready to battle pollution in South Bethany canals

By Maddy Lauria

06/19/18

Small as they may be, 130 mini man-made wetland mats have the potential to make a dent in the pollution plaguing the canals, while also providing new shelter and habitat for fish, crabs and shrimp that will soon congregate on their underwater root systems.

High Plains Journal: Preserve it Now: Pilot project to help improve soil, water quality

By Jennifer Carrico

06/18/18

Hakes is participating in the Taylor County Water Quality Initiative Project in southwest Iowa, the aim of which is to help reduce nutrient load in Iowa waters and the Gulf of Mexico. It is a pilot project stemming from the Iowa Nutrient Reduction Strategy, which began in 2008. Since then, counties across Iowa have been developing plans of their own to access water sources and reduce sediment run-off.
