

GENERAL INFORMATION

Call to Order and Welcome by EMARCD Acting Board President Rose Corona

Ms. Corona called the meeting to order at 11:13 AM and thanked all attendees for participation in the meeting, particularly those whose attendance required significant travel. Ms. Corona also noted that the gift baskets provided to each attendee were the product of generous donations from area wineries and the Temecula Valley Lavender Company, and included free tasting coupons, citrus, and seeds, among other things.

Roll Call and Introductions

EMARCD Director Michael Newcomb introduced the in-progress edited EMARCD logo which reflects the updated name of the District as Temecula-Elsinore-Anza-Murrieta or "TEAM" RCD. Mr. Newcomb then asked attendees to individually introduce themselves, to include role and agency they were representing.

Approval of Meeting Minutes

SoCal Inland Region Chair Jim Earsom requested review and possible approval of minutes from the previous two meetings, including the fall 2015 SoCal Inland Region Meeting and the spring 2016 special SoCal Inland Region meeting.

Fall 2015 SoCal Inland Region Meeting Minutes

AVRCD Director Claudette Beck made a motion to approve the fall 2015 meeting minutes. RCRCD Director Carol Bartels seconded the motion. The motion passed unanimously, 10-0.

Spring 2016 SoCal Inland Region Special Meeting Minutes

AVRCD Director Claudette Beck made a motion to approve the spring 2015 special meeting minutes. RCRCD Director Carol Bartels seconded the motion. The motion passed unanimously, 10-0.

RCRCD District Manager Shelli Lamb noted that there would need to be an additional meeting to approve the spring 2016 meeting minutes in order to go to the bank with the updated area name, since approved, signed minutes are necessary to change account names. Ms. Lamb noted that the CARCD Bylaws allow voting by mail, and asked CARCD Executive Director Karen Buhr if this could extend to email voting. Ms. Buhr responded that the non-profit code interpreted "mail" as traditional mail and e-mail. Area Chair Jim Earsom responded that all members would receive spring 2016 area meeting minutes upon completion, and that voting could occur by email to enable faster acceptance and provision to the bank.

Treasurer's Report

CARCD SoCal Inland Region Treasurer Carol Bartels provided updates including:

- Balance as of October 27th 2015: $2,967.16
- Deposits:
 - o $1,200 in Area dues
 - o $204 in fall 2015 auction proceeds
 - o $150 in meal reimbursements
- Expenses:
 - o $917.05 in costs for Speak-Off contestant travel and award
 - o $6.00 in account fees

- Balance as of March 14th, 2016: $3,598.11

Ms. Bartels also noted that the SoCal Inland Region account would no longer be subject to account fees now that it had reached the required $3,000 threshold for avoidance of those fees.

Presentation

Mr. Newcomb notified meeting attendees that the scheduled speaker from the North American Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) had not yet arrived, leading to a change in the order of the agenda. Rather than speak after the NOAA presenter, the owner of Fazeli Winery would address the membership beforehand, on elements of conservation in the design, construction, and ongoing maintenance of the Fazeli property. As Mr. Fazeli prepared to speak to attendees, Mr. Newcomb gave background on Temecula Valley as a recognized viticulture area, supported by local entities such as the Temecula Agricultural Conservancy. Promotion of grape cultivation increases local conservation due to a lower acre-foot/A water use and crop processing and use in the immediate area at a variety of local wineries.

After an introduction by Mr. Newcomb, BJ Fazeli welcomed meeting attendees and spoke about the multiple levels of conservation at the Fazeli property. Significant areas of conservation include orientation of buildings to take advantage of passive heating and cooling; use of traditional recycled materials such as wood reclaimed from trees destroyed in local fires; and use of non-traditional recycled materials such as reclaimed pieces from a local damaged and condemned warehouse. In addition to conservation methods employed during building construction, Mr. Fazeli maintains an ongoing commitment to responsible resource use through use of an efficient irrigation system that has been undergrounded for maximum impact to water conservation.

Lunch/Auction: $1,225 was collected from attendees resulting from the auction of donated items. Director Vicki Long left the meeting during the auction.

Action Items:

Discussion and Possible Approval of SoCal Inland Region Name Change

Discussion and Possible Approval of Bank Signature Card List

Area Chair Jim Earsom introduced these two items to the group, noting that they warrant joint consideration since they relate so closely to each other. RCRC District manager Shelli Lamb agreed, and also asked for clarification on which directors should sign meeting minutes. EMARCD Director Michael Newcomb responded that either the area President or Secretary-Treasurer should sign the minutes. After the discussion, Area Chair Earsom asked for a motion from directors.

Director Claudette Beck made a motion to approve both action items. Director Paul Williams provided the second. The motion passed, 9-0.

Discussion Items

Discussion of Area Leadership Handbook

AVRCD consultant Rich Campbell introduced the updated Leadership Handbook to the group, based on the original version and revised through a committee comprised of representatives from multiple member districts. The revisions were done due to the reorganization of the area and resulting change in member districts, and were scheduled to be presented at the SoCal Inland spring meeting for review by board and staff from all districts and partners. Priorities for the revised handbook include consistency with CARCD Bylaws, addressing current issues in the area such as use of area dues and expectations for directors, and providing updated board and staff training resources for member districts and partners, among other things.

In addition to the handbook, Mr. Campbell also distributed a companion review guide, asking each district to consider at a minimum:

- A list of priority issues (a minimum of five) recently worked on
- Regular board meeting date and time
- Five key partners

Following handbook and companion distribution, Mr. Campbell commented on his enthusiasm for the significant turnout at the meeting, particularly since it was scheduled for a weekend in response to direction from member districts about methods for increasing participation. He further commented that increasing regional collaboration on an ongoing basis would enable resource sharing to address common issues, securing elevated focused support from CARCD and NRCS, and ensuring regular SoCal Inland Region member attendance at critical functions such as the annual RCD conference. At the end of the discussion item, directors supported bringing the handbook back for consideration at the fall 2016 region meeting.

Mr. Campbell also distributed NRCS handbooks entitled Conquest of the Land Through 7,000 Years to representatives from each entity in attendance.

Agency Reports:

Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS)

State Conservationist Carlos Suarez provided updates from partner agency NRCS, beginning with his intention to attend as many regional meetings as his scheduled will allow, to enable ongoing strengthening of the NRCS-CARCD partnership. Mr. Suarez remains most concerned with performing steps necessary to ensure ongoing availability of resources to allow for on-the-ground projects to remediate resource issues throughout the state. He further noted that after recent conduction of a weeklong training for district conservationists in Davis, that he was issuing a challenge to all NRCS field office and RCD partner staff in prioritizing times to meet and review potential areas of collaboration and/or complementary projects. This regular meeting and identification of shared areas of potential project work will likely strengthen agency relationships and result in greater efficiency in project implementation.

Mr. Suarez also commented on significant resource concerns in California, of which he is most concerned about tree mortality. The NRCS is working with partners including the United States Forest Service and CalFire to address tree mortality remediation, and are projecting a $5 million contribution to statewide efforts in the 2016-17 Service budget. He also commented on NRCS administrative issues such as staff vacancies, noting that the Service is working as hard as possible to address these issues with minimal impact on partners.

Assistant State Conservationist for Field Operations Jae Lee also addressed the membership, commenting on ongoing NRCS ability to provide a variety of staff assistance to RCD partners throughout the state, no matter what happens with future budgets and legislation.

California Association of Resource Conservation Districts (CARCD):

CARCD Executive Director Karen Buhr provided an update to meeting attendees, focusing on the work happening to return California RCDs to their rightful role as implementation arms for statewide projects. Recently, in part because of CARCD and CSG advocacy, RCDs were written into a funding opportunity for the California Department of Food and Agriculture to implement education and outreach for individuals/entities interested in participating in the State Water Efficiency and Enhancement Program (SWEEP) program. Ms. Buhr expressed excitement about this opportunity, noting more are coming but that she is working to ensure more funders know we can help and that individual districts are positioned to assume project responsibility when the time comes.

A major undertaking of CARCD continues to be capacity building at the regional and local level, consisting of elements such as:

- Leadership academies, consisting of representation in three cohorts throughout the state from districts throughout the state. While the initial leadership academies have taken place, Ms. Buhr reminded meeting attendees that an abbreviated version will be offered at the 2016 conference.
- Resource Library: a variety of documents are available ranging from board education modules to Tier requirement support documents to document samples for use by all RCDs in the state. Log-ins are required but are available by contacting CARCD staff.
- Department of Conservation Funding in State Budget: this is pending and will not be finalized until the end of the state budget process; however, if it is included in the final California state budget, it will provide funding for District strategic planning and other processes critical for building capacity. Since this funding would be tied to property tax revenues, if approved it would continue to grow in future years.

Ms. Buhr also provided updates on the in-progress CARCD Strategic Plan update, and also on the annual conference scheduled for Wednesday, November 16th – Saturday, November 19th 2016 at the DoubleTree in Ontario. Finally, Ms. Buhr requested direct district feedback in the form of calls or email, informing her of how CARCD can best support districts other than direct conveyance of funds.

Conservation Strategy Group (CSG)

Tasha Newman, RCD lead for Conservation Strategy Group, provided updates on CSG work performed on behalf of California districts. She noted that advocacy on behalf of member districts is easiest when she has increased understanding of individual district function and areas of focus, and for this reason spent time this week touring the RCD of Greater San Diego County and the Inland Empire RCD. Both district managers introduced Tasha to key projects and areas of concern in individual service areas, and provided her with take-aways to further inform design of district advocacy on an ongoing basis.

Ms. Newman reminded meeting attendees that legislative advocacy on the local, regional, statewide, and federal level is critical to advance awareness of RCDs. She encouraged districts to participate in current legislative day opportunities such as the annual May event organized by the California Special Districts Association. Ms. Newman also noted that an RCD-focused advocacy event at the capitol would also be possible if member districts felt it was important, and suggested that districts coordinate with her through CARCD executive director Karen Buhr if planning to visit Sacramento. Finally, Ms. Newman provided CSG-generated handouts including an incredibly detailed legislative guide for use by districts, coordinating representation with RCD boundaries and including information helpful in visit preparation such as legislator committee involvement and term length.

California Department of Conservation (DOC):

The Department of Conservation RCD lead Jenny DiStefano provided updates to the membership, included supplemental information on the DOC-CARCD in-progress resource library. The library was established in November and open for use by individual districts. RCD District Manager Shelli Lamb requested the regularity which legal documents in this library will be legally reviewed and edited, and Ms. DiStefano responded that she would check and provide an updated back to the membership. Ms. DiStefano also informed attendees that the DOC is currently compiling an updated map of all RCDs in the state using GIS layers, all of which will be available to requesting parties. Districts may request to review data associated with individual service areas, and once the map is ready will be able to download all district layers in California.

Next Meeting: San Jacinto Basin will host the fall 2016 Area meeting, with a date, time and location to be determined.

Adjourn: Acting Area Chair Earsom adjourned the meeting at 2:01 PM
